

Deepti Sachdev

Assistant Professor, School of Human Studies

Ambedkar University Delhi

Bio

Deepti Sachdev is Assistant Professor at the School of Human Studies, Ambedkar University Delhi. She teaches courses on Psychoanalysis, Psychology and Social Anthropology. She is pursuing her doctoral work on understanding the practices of touch and non-touch in the Indian context within the space of the Psychoanalytic clinic and its intersection with the social hierarchies of caste. She completed her postgraduate studies from University of Oxford, and University of Delhi, and further training from the Center for Psychoanalytic Studies, University of Delhi. She enjoys writing poetry and is a restless dreamer. Her latest work titled 'Masked Horizons: Reflections on Death and Dying' has been published as part of the symposium 'Questioning Corona: A symposium on the social impact of the virus' in the Indian journal SEMINAR. It is available on www.india-seminar.com/2020/733/733_deepti_sachdev.htm.